According to reports, Trump wants to continue the maga grift and start his own political party. This would be a huge endeavor and waste of time and resources. third parties in American have never worked, and there has never been more than two political parties with hegemony over discourse or with political power. This will most likely turn into another business venture for Trump to milk some donations from disenfranchised Trumpsters who think Infowars is a news outlet. No doubt this stems from the hurt to Trump's ego he experienced following the Capitol Hill riot in which most Republicans have distanced themselves from him. Trump is considering calling it the "Patriot Party". Funny enough, this was a political organization in the 1960s and 1980s that was socialist, anti-fascist and multi-racial. Jesse Jackson was involved in it loosely. Not that facts matter to American Nationalists, but it's an interesting history tidbit.
